

WANTED:

Research Participants

- Who: Females, 18 or older, married or divorced. You do not have to be a WSU student or faculty/staff member to participate.
- What: Study involves research on perceptions about conflict during stressful situations in marriage. The research asks you to recall conflicts you had with your spouse (or ex-spouse if divorced) to complete 5 questionnaires. The questionnaires should take you 45 minutes or less to complete and will be completed during a single visit. You will be compensated $20 for your participation.
- When: Appointments are still available from 2:30 pm – 8:00 pm on April 22, 2009. Researcher will work with your schedule if you cannot commit to a 45 minute block of time. Also willing to e-mail the questionnaires to you so you can complete at your convenience and turn them in during the times available above.
- Where: Wayne State University, General Lectures Hall, room 160
- Risks: It is possible that if you have experienced or are experiencing domestic abuse and/or violence, participation in this research study and/or receiving and/or completing the surveys from this research study may prompt further abuse and/or violence. If this type of risk is a concern for you, consider not participating in this research.
- Contact: To voluntarily participate, contact the researcher, Melissa, for an appointment: as8147@wayne.edu
